

FEBRUARY NEWS

Author Workshops | Novel News | Upcoming Events

Upcoming Events

We Love Literacy Book Festival
Okefenokee Heritage Center,
Waycross, GA, February 7

Red, White & Blue Book Festival
First Baptist Church of Perry, Main Street, Perry, GA, Saturday, Feb 21
from 8:30 am to 4:30 pm

VISIT [tmbrownbooks.com/
events](http://tmbrownbooks.com/events)

T. M. 'Mike' Brown

SOUTHERN AUTHOR
Milledgeville, GA

www.TMBrownBooks.com • www.TMBrownAuthor.com

Mike@TMBrownAuthor.com
352-812-5199 cell

Author Workshops

With his 5th novel due out in the coming months, Mike has put together two single session workshops designed from a writer's perspective. If interested, contact Mike to schedule.

Working With Editors Workshop

From a writer's perspective— This workshop gives debut and emerging authors a practical look at how editors think and how to collaborate without losing your voice. Learn how to interpret feedback, respond professionally, and turn edits into a stronger manuscript.

Getting the Past Right Workshop

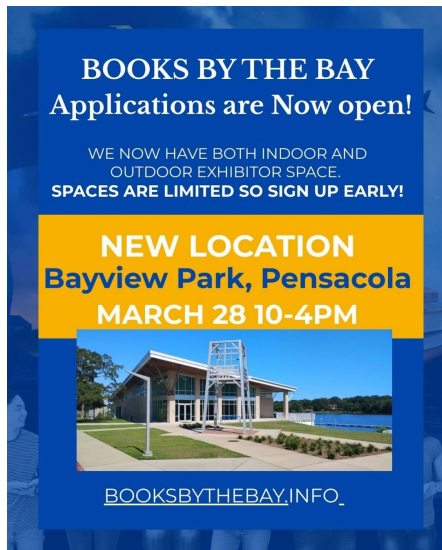

Bring history to life without slowing the story. This workshop shares practical research strategies, authenticity checks, and storytelling techniques to weave accurate detail into compelling fiction, so your historical novel feels lived-in, credible, and emotionally true for writers at any stage.

Chestatee River DARBOOK CLUB, Polo & Golf Country Club, Cumming, GA February 22

Family RV Association International Convention & RV Expo, Perry, GA March 21

BOOKS BY THE BAY, Pensacola, FL March 28

VISIT tmbrownbooks.com/events for the complete calendar of events.

Questions or Comments Email: mike@TMBrownAuthor.com

Latest Novel News

Over the past year, Mike wrote his next Southern novel, The Road Back to Shiloh. It was inspired by an actual family cross-country vacation.

Sam Simmons has developed early signs of dementia following the loss of his wife. Family and friends take him on a cross-country road trip aboard a vintage motor coach, expecting a few laughs and lasting memories. They discover along the journey the kind of redemption that only comes when the past greets the future.

This soulful Southern family odyssey blends the humor of family and friendship with the ache of regret. Aboard a vintage motor coach three generations experience forgiveness, forgetfulness, and faith as they make their way back home.

Watch for more details about the story's release in the coming months. Visit TMBROWNBOOKS.COM and subscribe.

Below is the Wallace family from their trip a dozen years ago.

